

Rhinestone Lips

Lyrics by J A Knight

She had, rhinestone lips party dress fingertips
Waiting for a train
She said I don't go with anyone I don't know
Too drunk to complain

Diamond hard raindrops
Green glass rooftops
Glitter dusted railway tracks
Heart station destination
Chain lightning from smoke stacks
Hair curtains fall
Crystal voices call
Ain't ever goin' back

She had rhinestone lips lava lamp laser drips
Space invader pseudonym, she said
Can you see now my window shade eyebrow
Invisible image on film
Atomic gold vintage tone
Elevator telephone
Abstract conversation on fire
Backwards daylight recoil in fright
Illuminated purple door
Glowing silver vapours
Imaginary papers
Highway's twisted like wire

Cash inverter drainpipe bank
Gold plated Panzer tank
See you later innovator
Midnight Angel
Riding in style
Miracles take more than a while

Bloodshot evil eyes
Penetrate blue velvet skies
Fluorescent innocence
Mycelium pilot
Louder than sound
Got my feet back off the ground

She had, rhinestone lips party dress fingertips
Waiting for a train
She said I don't go with anyone I don't know
I said, you already told me so

© 2022 J A Knight

